Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

A bright young man from the Social Security Board called the other day in this office. He wanted to know if the editor would like to sign up for a year's handouts of publicity concerning that board. He stated that a new law made it obligatory upon the board to secure the signature of newspaper publishers requesting that these handouts be sent. Well, we declined. We thought we might save Uncle Sam as much as 50 cents a year, perhaps more, for sometimes these government agencies publish illustrated books telling what a good thing their respective boards are. The WPA, instituted to help the unemployed, publishes tons of "literature" annually at an expense to the tax payer of hundreds of thousands of dollars. And nine tenths of it goes into the waste basket.

The bright young man, and he was bright, said that he would like to sign the editor up. He said that we need use only what we wished, but, he implied, it would probably handicap the Nugget to be without all the information his particular department could supply, given the chance. We still said "NO," and he departed a bit downcast, for which we were sorry. But considering the huge quantities of paper printed and wasted by the Federal and State bureaus seeking to justify their existence and the vast pay roll given over to press agentry at the tax payers expense, we felt like the widow, who couldn't give much to the Lord, but did give her mite.

Through the postoffice comes a constant stream of long and short blurbs from all these New Deal bureaus praising themselves for the good work they are doing. The editor who undertakes to read them all is soon fed up and his mental digestive tract swells and hurts like the stomach of a small boy who has helped himself to a five pound box of chocolates. They are uniformly sweetly cloying and reveal the perfect man doing a perfect New Deal job.

You never for instance receive from the SRA, which spends most dollars in self adulation, such an item as this excerpt from testimony given before the legislative committee that investigated it:

"A truck driver started from Oakland in a 1½ ton pick-up and delivered a 75 cent Christmas tree in Los Angeles, over 400 miles distant, and returned empty."

Or this:

"Several trucks hauled loads of Christmas trees from metropolitan Oakland to a camp in the hills near Oroville, where Christmas trees come from."

Or this:

"A two mile pipe line was constructed, costing $20,000, and it was then discovered that the outlet was higher than the intake, and the work had to be done over again."

A large part of the trouble that democracies meet in making democracy work, we are convinced, is that we fail to pay for brains in the public service. By and large, low salaries will only tempt the low brows to run for office. If we could halve the number of Congressmen and the number of state legislative members, and double the salaries, in the opinion of this humble scribe, it would be a good stroke of business. There would be less babel of tongues and more well considered action. We are too parsimonious in wages to our public servants. Private employment for relative positions, as a general rule, pays far better than posts in public service. The taxpayer gets off cheaply so far as salaries are concerned, but pays prodigiously for the incompetent and wasteful service rendered.

And, when an incomptent man has been appointed to an important administrative job, he surely needs a press bureau to suppress his mistakes, or worse, and to build an insignificant snifflewhiffet into something resembling a wise, capable, and honest public official. There, we think, is the reason for the army of press agents employed by political chieftains appointed or in some cases elected to office. The capable press agent can give any official an imposing front by means of a copious flow of "literature" directed to the press, provided only the editor will publish the stuff. Well, here's one that won't. We are tired of Tudor fronts and Queen Ann rears.

NEVADA CITY HI LAD TO COMPETE IN FORUM TEST

The Sacramento Valley regional championship in the California Bankers Association high school public speaking contest will be decided Monday afternoon, April 29, at 2 o'clock in the auditorium of the Live Oak Union High School, Live Oak. The theme of the contest is "The Values of American Citizenship."

The contest will bring together seven youthful orators, each a winner in a recent county or zone elimination meet. The speakers and the counties they represent are as follows:

Sutter County—Eymard Gallagher, East Nicolaus High School; Yuba County—Jack Boyd, Marysville Union High School; Glenn County—Robert Paquette, Orland Joint Union High School; Butte County—Robert Gwartney, Biggs Union High School; Nevada County — Richard John Pease, Nevada City High School; Colusa County—Aura May Chatfield, Williams Union High School; and Placer County—Mereda Best, Lincoln Union High School.

The purpose of this contest, according to local bankers, sponsors of the program, is to give the youth of California an effective medium whereby they may study and discuss the values of American citizenship and stimulate a deeper appreciation of its ideals, principles and responsibilities. More than 14,000 students in 296 high schools of the state have competed in the contest.

The winner of the Sacramento Valley meet will be awarded a gold trophy and will advance to the final round of competition which is to be held in the Veterans War Memorial Building, San Francisco, on May 17. In the finals the winners of the ten regional contests held throughout the state will compete for the grand prize, a vacation trip to Honolulu.

The public is invited to attend the regional and final contests.

CREATES SCARE

Miss Dolores Bishop created a scare Friday morning when she left home to come to school on the school bus but was not on the bus when it arrived, frightening her friends and relatives who thought she might have been kidnapped or met with an accident. She later arrived with Bob Scott on the butcher truck to the relief of those concerned.

Fritz Kaminsky, inspector of police of Sacramento, will be present for a talk and show moving pictures. At a recent meeting of the association Captain A. H. Willard of the Fish and Game Commission was elected captain, and H. F. Sofge, secretary.

The local officers or Tahoe team held a pistol shoot on their newly constructed range southwest of Nevada City this afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock.

RURAL TEACHERS HEAR SPEECH BY WELFARE CHIEF

In her address before the Nevada County Rural Teachers' Club Saturday morning, Dr. Ellen S. Stadtmuller, Chief of the Division of Child Welfare, State Department of Hygiene, stressed the fact that the mental and social health of the child lies in the hands of the teacher.

She also pointed out that with the establishment of the School Medical Service program, contact between the home and the school is made possible through the efforts of the health nurse and the teacher. As the teacher wields such a tremendous influence on the child, she may do much to create the proper attitude toward his mental and social health.

Business Meeting

Dr. Stadtmuller was introduced to the interested group at the business meeting following the address.

Reports of the various committees were received. Miss Jean Brittan, chairman of the club's county library committee stated that Fred Mounday had been appointed chairman of a group representing various organizations, to petition the board of supervisors for the establishment of a free county library. She also reported that the Truckee Chamber of Commerce was sponsoring the movement in that end of the county.

Special Guests

It was the pleasure of the club to have the members of the Nevada County Board of Education as special guests at the delicious luncheon which was served by the ladies of the Methodist church in the church parlors.

Plans were discussed for a May Day to be held May 4, and a committee was appointed to make final arrangements for the outing.

ATTEND CONVENTION

Captain A. H. Willard, and Game Warden Earl Hiscox of this city and W. LaMar game warden of Truckee, returned Friday from attending a game wardens convention in the Crystal Hotel in San Francisco. They went down on Wednesday for a three day session. All members of the fish and game commission were present. Governor Olson and other state officials addressed the convention.

LOCAL SCHOOLS WILL CELEBRATE AT OPEN HOUSE

In commendation of Public School Week, an extensive program has been outlined by Walter A. Carlson, County Superintendent of Schools.

At 2 o'clock on Friday, the Elementary Parent Teachers Association will hold a regular meeting with Public School Week as the theme of the gathering. Mrs. Marian Libbey will direct the elementary school chorus group in several selections.

In the evening, a program will be held in the elementary school auditorium with the public again asked to attend. A noted speaker will be present to speak on the public schools. H. E. Kjorlie will show pictures taken at school during classes.

A musical program will be presented by director Ralph S. Smith of the elementary school orchestra.

ALTA CALIFORNIANS RUSH FAIR PLANS

TREASURE ISLAND, April 22.—A spectacular new display of luminous minerals glowing under fluorescent lights will be added to the Alta California Building for the 1940 exposition which opens on May 25.

This was the announcement today of Edward Morris, managing director of the sponsoring association following a meeting of the board of directors in Sacramento. Supervisor L. C. Hammer of Stanislaus County, president of Alta California, presided with W. P. Ellis, chairman of the board of directors.

"In addition to all of our other beautiful exhibits," Morris said, "we will specialize this year in a complete mineral study and display. The exhibits of the so-called luminous metals whose rare beauties glow under fluorescent lighting will be spectacular indeed."

The counties represented in the Alta California Building are Stanislaus, San Joaquin, Yuba, Sutter, Colusa, Glenn, Butte, Plumas, Nevada, Amador, Calevaras Mariposa, Tuolumne, Mono and Inyo.

ALASKA MINE

It is expected the 680 foot shaft of the Alaska mine will be de-watered today. Powerful pumps work full twenty four hours with pumpmen operating them on a three shift basis. The company has had considerable bad luck but it is hoped this will mark a successful turn for the mine interests. Crews cleaned out a tunnel on the 500 foot level so that in case men working in the shaft in the future were caught by a sudden flow of water or mishap, they would have a second way of escape. In 1914 a motor was being hoisted and broke loose to fall into the bottom of the shaft and smash. In pumping out the shaft this spring the old motor has been sighted.

Sportman Prepare For Assault On Wily Trout

With trout fishing season only ten days away Nevada City fishermen are dragging out their tackle and poles and nearly every place of business in town has its group of sportsmen telling of their favorite spots on nearby lakes, rivers and streams.

Sportsmen returning from trips into the higher mountains report high water the past winter has permitted trout to get into the smaller streams at the higher altitudes, and present indications are that fishing should be the best in years. Five feet of snow was reported on Packer Lake above Downieville the first week in April but was melting rapidly, two feet disappearing in the few days a touring party spent at the lake. It is expected roads to Packer and Sardine lakes will be open by May first.

Fishermen of Truckee who went into Nevada state on their opening date April 15 had poor luck due to high water although many Reno fishermen caught limits.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gates, Ernest Brisebill and Everett Robinson have made plans to fish in the Washington district on May first. Mr. Gates stating they were going to be the first ones out.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Larsen has been making elaborate preparations for a successful trip. John Tognarelli, Gene Barberi and Dominick Merzetta will be among those to get an early start into the fishing areas. Dick Lane and party are preparing to spend some time fishing as he has never missed an opening day.

From Earl Hiscox, local game warden, it was learned that there is lots of snow at the 6,500 foot level and up and lakes in that area are covered with ice. Fuller lake will be about the only one in this section that can be fished. Roads to many of the lakes in the upper country are either blocked with snow or too rough to travel and fishermen will have to walk some distance to them. He said, however, that trout fishing should be fairly good at lower elevations as streams are in good condition.

OFFICER ATTACKED BY ALLEGED DRUNK WITH AUTO CRANK

Officer Leonard Johnson was struck at viciously with an auto crank by Jack Wilson, from Scotts Flat dam Saturday afternoon down in back of Lane's Garage when the officer approached him to make an arrest. The man was allegedly drunk and the officer was too quick for him when he lunged forward with the crank. He was locked up in the county jail and Sunday was given a severe reprimand and sent back to his work at Scotts Flat dam camp.

P. T. A. SUPPORTS CO-ORDINATED VACATION PLAN

The school year will soon be over and the children are looking forward with great expectation to the long summer vacation with its good times under the leadership of the Coordinating Council.

Questionnaires will soon be sent to see what the children want most in the way of recreation and capable men and women will give freely of their time under the direction of the recreational leader, Cecil Klee, already chosen to fill that post.

Parents will look forward to summer with freer minds here, than in many other places, for the forbidden swimming holes, and deserted mine shafts will not hold the attraction that they might if safer fun were not provided.

The community house and swimming pool will be teeming with excitement this summer with scores of laughing happy youngsters there, made possible by the community's support of the Co-ordinating Council.

The Parent Teachers association is anxious to help make this a successful summer for the council, and are sponsoring the appearance of Miss Katherine Kitchen, Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium at 7:45. She will read "The Fabulaus Invalid," a successful New York production.

A pleasant evening will be enjoyed by all that attend. Tickets may be secured at Colley's confectionery.

SCHOOLBOY HERO STILL DOGGED BY BAD LUCK CAREER

DENVER, (UP)—Bryan Untiedt, a national hero nine years ago when he saved the lives of 14 children in a snowbound school bus, has resumed his misfortune-dogged quest for lasting security following his latest bad break at the hands of Lady Luck.

The Colorado schoolboy, who was entertained by President Hoover, following his heroic deed, sustained cuts and bruises that sent him to the hospital when two cars crashed near here recently.

The accident was the latest of a series of misfortunes which have hounded Bryan since that subzero day in March, 1931, when he gave his clothing to his blizzard bound school mates and kept them alive on the praries near Towner, Colo., until aid arrived.

Following a week's visit at the White House, Bryan was offered free tuition at a number of colleges and universities when he came of college age. However, he chose to remain with his parents, who soon were driven from their dryland farm by dust storms.

Next he turned up in Denver penniless and unable to find a job. He worked at a packing house for a while but soon lost the job. The same thing happened when he was employed on a WPA project.

His luckless path has crossed that of the law. Arrested for a minor traffic offense, he was in jail five days until friends heard of his plight and paid the $13 fine. He received a suspended fine last winter when police arrested him for drunkenness after a dance hall brawl.

Bryan's appearance has changed along with his luck. The national hero was a slight youth of 13. The unlucky Bryan of today is a strapping youth of 22, standing 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighing more than 175 pounds.

Los Angeles Guests—

Mr. and Mrs. John Figurski had as guests over the past week end Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Dutton of Los Angeles.

SCOTTS FLAT MAN IS BURNED IN CAMP FIRE

A motorist, driving along the Tahoe Ukiah highway coming toward Nevada City near the Central House yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, saw a small cloud of smoke coming up out of the woods across the highway from McKeesyport and stopped to investigate. He found a man lying in a small fire badly burned. He was Edward Kempe, aged 60 years, and a discharged worker from the Scotts Flat unemployment camp.

It is stated Kempe had purchased liquor at the Central House and feeling cold built a fire to warm himself while drinking the liquor and fell into the blaze.

Kempe was taken to the county hospital and this morning it was learned that he is critically burned and there is a possibility that he will not recover. The camp fire burned over a small area in pine timber, before it was extinguished.

Relative of Mrs. Clemo Succumbs in Palo Alto

The sudden passing of Ed LaPiere of Palo Alto Saturday night came as a shock to his relatives in Nevada City and Grass Valley. He was a brother in law of Mrs. Celia Clemo of Nevada City and a former Grass Valley resident. Saturday aforenoon he suffered a sudden heart attack and passed away during the afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sauvee and Miss Lila Clemo, nieces and nephew, will motor to Palo Alto to attend funeral services.

ENGINEERS STUDY REHABILITATION OF STORM DAMAGES

SACRAMENTO, April 22.—(UP)—Engineers of the state department of public works are studying more than $1,000,000 worth of requests for emergency flood rehabilitation appropriations in preparation for a report to Gov. Culbert Olson and the legislature, Director of Public Works Frank W. Clark said today.

Requests for state funds have come from 24 northern California counties for repairs to roads, levees and bridges damaged by storms in February and March.

Clark said detailed study of the requests will be ready for consideration of Governor Olson at least a week prior to reconvening of the legislature on May 13.

MEASURES REVEAL AMPLE SNOW PACK FOR THIS SUMMER

SACRAMENTO, April 22.—(UP)—The snow pack in the Sierra Nevada is only three fourths of normal, but it insures ample water for the coming summer and carries little threat of floods even at the peak of the snow melting period, the state division of water resources reported today.

The report was based on snow surveys made during the latter part of March and the first part of April at approximately 200 snow courses in the Sierra Nevada throughout California, State Engineer Edward Hyatt said.

The average now pack for 14 watersheds in the area was 73 per cent of normal. Because of above normal quantities of snow at high elevations however, late summer flows should be good, Hyatt said.

CALIFORNIA LEADS NATION IN TRUCK GARDENING IN 1939

SACRAMENTO, April 22.—(UP)—California led the American nation in commercial truck crop production in 1939 with a grand total of 564,960 acres from which vegetables valued at $87,995,000 were harvested, the state department of agriculture reported today.

Florida was in second place with 173,300 acres and valuation of $33,334,000. New York, New Jersey and Texas followed in total valuations.

On the basis of acreage, the states ranked as follows: California, Texas, Florida, New York and New Jersey.

Persecution Complex

Americans, with the unrestricted and unhampered perspective of a free people, have watched heartbroken human beings, including illustrious men of letters, science, medicine, music and art, accept the protection of this land—unhappy outcasts from their own countries, dispossessed and persecuted Jew, Americans have found the picture hard to reconcile, this fanaticism of such inhuman order.

As evidence piles up, however, both here and abroad one aspect of the pattern is increasingly clear. In every country where human rights have given way to the ruthless might of dictators, in every quarter where to desire democracy is treason, the Jew has been abused, scorned, robbed and finally outcast from his own country.

It is significant and it is worth pondering that in every case of revolutionary edeavor against American creeds and American democracy, the same factor of the Jewish purge is also objective. The so-called "Christain Front," whose purerile plan to seize an arsenal for "revolutionary purposes" was nipped in the bud a month or two ago, was all ready to proclaim such a purge. Currently, Pelly's "Silver Shirts," who planned a revolutionary move of much greater scope, admits the same anti-Jewish objectives, along with anti-Catholic aims.

Fortunately, the majority of Americans still feel we can settle any governmental matters at the ballot box, without resort to revolution. Meanwhile, the average citizen might reasonably reflect on the mounting evidence that the chief anti-Jewish and anti-Catholic influences in the country today seem to disclose themselves as anti-democratic, and anti-American as well.

A Newspaperman's Nomination

It seems singularly fitting that Damon Runyon, veteran newspaperman, should nominate the late O. Henry for the Hall of Fame, as he did last week. Hidebound by conventional rules of classical style and form, pundits of ultra-literary magazines frequently look down their noses at geniuses who make their own rules. O. Henry didn't write like Hawthorne or James or Howells. He wrote like O. Henry, and he wrote the best short stories of American literature. But a newspaperman must call to the attention of Boston critics that he is far more than an ingenious plot twister. Similar cases aren't rare. Ring Lardner was rated in high places merely a facile slinger of slang, until another newspaperman, H. L. Mencken, hailed Lardner as a literary craftsman of the first order, and confronted the professors with the plain truth that Lardner's "Golden Honeymoon" and "Some Like Them Cold," have rarely been excelled among short-story masterpieces. Few newspapermen are acquainted with the rules of formal criticism. But those who by instinct love good writing, are quick to acclaim it when they see it. Mr. Runyon's nomination of O. Henry will receive a chorus of seconds from the rank and file of American newspapermen.

Citizens' Crusade

The responsibility of the private citizen for the conduct of his elected representatives grows increasingly clear as the picture of "pressure gangs" at the legislature unfolds. When legislators themselves, Democrats and Republicans alike, join to warn citizens of the situation, and to plead for help in combatting it, the condition can hardly be ignored.

Latest spokesman against "selfish, destructive and un-American forces, bringing their pressure to bear on legislators" was Assemblyman Frank J. Waters of Los Angeles, who struck out, too, at "relief racketeering, economic romancing, bureaucratic spending, and all forms of governmental quackery." Waters, as a member of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, expressed the appreciation of that committee for the work of the newly-formed Citizens' Economy Bloc, toward governmental sanity.

"I am glad to know," he said, "that there is a Citizens' Economy Bloc—that there are minute men, gathering in every section of the state, leading a revolt against tax banditry in California.

"It is high time for a citnzens' crusade to crush rampant bureaucracy before it crushes them. There is desperate need for a return to popular government in California—I mean a government responsive to the real will of the people, instead of the arbitrary dictates of political hacks, malcontents, Communists rabble rousers and self-seeking pleaders for special government favors. Just because the legislature took drastic action at the special session to clean up the relief administration, and shelved unwarranted demands for 50 million dollars in new taxes that we cannot possibly afford—don't make the mistake of assuming that the battle is won. The pressure is still on; the 'Gimme' organizations haven't quit. But if all citizens who want economy and sound government will get into the fray and help in running the plunderbund out of Califoria, they will win. We of the legislature can do no more than express your will. This is your battle. And you alone can win it."

What Mr. Waters pleads for is what every American wants. The Citizens' Economy Bloc is evidence that California means to have it!

POLITICAL PARADE

BY CLEM WHITAKER

California's crusade to stamp out relief racketeering and put a ceiling on taxes—first inaugurated by the bi-partisan economy bloc in the State Legislature, and now vigorously supported by a Statewide Citizens Economy Bloc—may have nationwide repercussions.

From U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, a leading presidential aspirant, has come strong commendation for the California movement.

And from Oregon, Washington, and several eastern states, have come requests for full information on the facts unearthed by the relief investigation here, the reforms instituted and the tax savings effected.

In a letter to Senator Jerrold L. Seawell of Roseville, president pro tem of the State Senate, and one of the leaders of the legislative economy bloc, Senator Taft wrote as follows:

Dear Senator Seawell:

My attention has been called to your address, "The Truth About Relief," I was extremely interested in the local situation in California, which has been played up considerably by those who demand more federal WPA.

Your analysis of the situation is the best I have seen and shows a sound comprehension of the relief problem. It seems to me that relief must be decentralized and administered by local committees or administrators under strict civil service requirements. The state and federal governments will have to provide a large proportion of the money to be used, but the localities can assume responsibility for the actual administration.

If you happen to be in Washington, I should like to have an opportunity of discussing the question with you.

Sincerely yours,
ROBERT A. TAFT.

The Seawell address to which Senator Taft referred was delivered at the conclusion of the recent special session of the State Legislature—and was in the form of a report of the economy bloc's work in "squeezing the water out of SRA stock." It concluded with the statement: "Many of us in the legislature believe that the only satisfactory solution of the relief problem will be abolition of the present top-heavy, extravagant SRA structure, and return of relief administration to the counties."

Speaker of the Assembly Gordon Garland, Assemblyman Sam Yorty, whose committee has ferreted out subversive activities in the SRA, and other legislative leaders have likewise reported requests from other states for information on California's relief reform crusade.

And it begins to look like California may have touched off a national movement of far-reaching significance!

Behind the scenes, there are strange goins-on in California's Democratic presidential primary. What started out to be a four-cornered race, our spy reports, may soon be only three cornered, with the Ham and Eggers abandoning their ticket to team up with Ellis Patterson's slate of left-wingers. And if the "deal" goes through, the Patterson ticket will place all its advertising (with 15 per cent commissions) through the Allen-owned Cinema Advertising Agency. What a business!

Labor's Non-Partisan League which once fought hammer and tongs for the New Deal and Mr. Roosevelt, now sallies forth to battle under the slogan: "A vote for Roosevelt is a vote for war!" And what happened there?

Whispers from the grapevine: J. F. T. O'Connor, former Comptroller of the Currency, may soon be appointed State Bank Superintendent. And two Olson appointees who are opposing the Olson-Roosevelt presidential slate will be fired — after election! Their names: Carey McWilliams, chief of the State Bureau of Immigration and Housing, and Germaine Bulcke, member of the Fish and Game Commission.

Business activity in California and the far west during March remained at levels higher than a year ago, although showing a decline from recent months, according to the local branc hof Bank of America.

Daily average value of March bank debits, adjusted for seasonal variation, was down three per cent from February, but showed an increase of seven per cent over the same month a year ago. California department store sales, corrected for seasonal, showed a gain of two per cent in March over the previous month and were unchanged from last year.

Total building permits in thirty-two California cities were up twenty five per cent above February but twelve per cent under March, 1939. New home building permits issued in thirty one reporting California cities in March were valued at $11,612,900 an increase of thirty seven per cent over February but 4.5 per cent less than the same month a year ago.

The local management stated that Bank of America's index of western business for March stood at 76.6, compared with 78.7 in February, but was six per cent higher than March 1993. With the exception of 1937, the index this year is the highest March mark since 1931.

Politically Speaking

By JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Cal. —(UP)—Of all the political "hot potatoes" in California, the teacher tenure law ranks high because legislators and administrators alike fear the powerful lobby, and influence of the school teachers.

There are definite indications, however, that revision and modification of the tenure law may be an important item of business before the 1941 legislature. The league of women voters is taking an active interest in the question and several prominent educators have made recent attacks on the asserted defects in the law.

Some critics of tenure cite the parallel of labor unions, which gradually usurped so much power that correctional laws were sought by a suffering public. They explain that labor unions, lige tenure, afford a needed protection to the job-holder, but should not be permitted mushroom to the point where the incompetent and misfits are protected and kept at work while the children and taxpayers suffer.

In brief, the tenure law operates in elementary and secondary schools with enrollments above 850 average daily attendance. A teacher may be dismissed at any time during the first three year probationary period but if a contract for the fourth year is signed, removal can be accomplished only by the proving of charges of unfitness, immorality or other grounds.

A referee system is set up to hear complaints but the joker is the right of the accused teacher to go into court. This results in costly and extended litigation From a practical standpoint, school boards dislike this expense and trouble because the teacher usually wins.

Dr. F. W. Hart, professor of education in the University of California and a loud critic of tenure, cites the instance of a San Francisco school teacher, dismissed for alleged incompetence. The teacher appealed the superior court decision upholding the board of referees and the cost to San Francisco already is $9,000.

Dr. Hart's comments typify the opposition to tenure. He said:

"It seems fair to assume that if the people of San Francisco know that they have paid $9,000 to dismiss a teacher so obviously unfit as the evidence showed, they would rise up and demand the repeal of all the tenure legislation. Furthermore, if the people of the state knew that many incompetent, unsatisfactory teachers are retained in their services because of the difficulty and expense of bringing action to dismiss them, there would certainly be a statewide movement to strike down tenure.

"Sooner or later the people will know these facts and before it is too late the organized teachers of the state should move and move at once to correct the evils of the pesent tenure law."

The first tenure law was passed by the legislature in 1923, but was appealed to the courts and ruled unconstitutional. The legislature passed another law in 1927, shortly after which the state supreme court held the first statute to be constitutional, thus leaving two laws on the books. The teachers have been increasing the scope and restrictions of tenure steadily to the point where receiving tenure is almost a guarantee of a permanent job until the age for retirement.

The state department of education is forced to maintain a neutral "hands off" attitude but there is no question but that tenure has been one constant headache from the administrative standpoint.

Few will dispute the contention of school teachers that they are entitled to some protection. They claim that lack of tenure would permit biased or vindictive school principals and superintendents to dismiss without adequate grounds. They cite the principle of civil service in government as encompassing school teaching as well.

The subject has merit on both sides and will bring heated controversy. There is no possibility that the legislature could remove tenure bu modifications in favor of school boards may result, particularly if the powerful force of the women voters and other groups swing into the fight. The correctional goal would be to protect teachers who are physically and mentally fit and emotionally stable, but to eliminate those who obviously do not show these qualifications.

Teachers themselves dislike certain features of the tenure law, such as the wholesale firing at the end of three years by many school boards to avoid granting tenure. Highly trained and competent instructors thus are lost to school systems and forced to seek a new home every three years. Some schools circumvent the tenure by 'trading" teachers with other cities.

BORGLUM SAYS 4 STONE FACES ARE ADVANCING

MOUNT RUSHMORE, S. D., Apr. 22.—(UP)—The great stone faces of four of America's presidents—Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt—are nearing completion on the granite head of towering Mount Rushmore.

Gutzon Borglum, who has supervised sculpturing on this "Shrine of Democracy" since work started in 1937, said recently that the massive 464 foot carvings were in the final stages of construction.

He said much work remains, however, and he would not predict when the final dedication could be made.

"Only the finishing touches remain on the four faces," Borglum said. "Washington's arm, a hand and arm on Lincoln and Jefferson, the hall of records, the stone stairway, an inscription and landscaping are unfinished.

U. S. Allots $750,000

Since blasting and chiseling operations began 13 years ago, the Federal government has appropriated $750,000 for the national memorial. Private donations total approximately $150,000.

Additional appropriations may be required, the sculptor said.

"It is impossible to estimate how much a project of this kind will cost," he explained.

"We are not building a road, not blasting so many tons of rock from a mountain. We are carving statues of men important in our history and it's almost impossible to say how much work will be necessary to put the desired expression on Lincoln's face or the proper angle on Roosevelt's eyeglasses.

"My task is to create a national shrine that will serve to remind Americans they live in a nation conceived in liberty and freedom unequalled anywhere in the world."

Borglum declared the question of cost was "on a par with all the vulgar money consciousness with which our jazz civilization measures great production.

1940 Cavalcade!

The dainty miss of colonial days will be glorified in the production, "AMERICA! CAVALCADE OF A NATION", Theme Spectacle of the 1940 Golden Gate International Exposition which opens May 25. Shown above in the costume she will wear in the scene of the inauguration of George Washington's Dixie Day, featured player in the Exposition show.

How The Nevada County Narrow Guage Railroad 'Overnight' Service Works

The "up-country" owner of a fishing and vacation resort visited a local store with his Spring "want" list. On it was a quantity of special paint. The storekeeper shook his head. None of this particular paint in stock. How long was the resort owner to be in town—Overnight? Good!

It was 3:35 in the afternoon. Stepping to the 'phone the dealer called his San Francisco paint wholesaler. Briefly he gave the order, with the concluding instruction to make immediate shipment.

The following morning, simultaneously with the opening of the store, the Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad Company's truck made store-door delivery of the complete order.

The total weight of the paint was 250 pounds; total freight charges —which included delivery to the door, was only $1.47.

This example is typical of many such "overnight service" deliveries made by the Nevada County Narrow Gauge from the bay area; typical, too, of the "4-hour delivery" service from Sacramento, whereby freight ordered before 11 a. m. is received here shortly after 2 p. m. for Nevada City or Grass Valley delivery.

Many stores look upon Nevada County Narrow Gauge service as an integral part of their business. Such service does away with the necessity of large inventories of floor stocks—for it's mighty convenient to step to the 'phone, and place an order with the contented knowledge that the Narrow Gauge will inexpensively deliver the goods—according to promise and schedule.

ANN SOTHERN IN TITLE ROLE OF "CONGO MAISIE"

Filmed in a tropical atmosphere complete to an amazing Hollywood jungle, "Congo Maisie" comes to the Nevada Theatre Wednesday for a two day showing with Ann "Maisie" Sothern in the title role.

The opening scene presents a medical center deep in the African jungle. Grass huts, tropical shrubs, and dense trees surround the center building which houses the white man's magic against disease and death. It is at the medical center where a greater part of the drama occurs.

Another set is a shabby hotel room, where E. E. Clive is the landlord and Miss Sothern makes her second appearance as the stranded showgirl, Maisie, down on her luck, but with her fighting spirit at top peak.

Opposite Miss Sothern, as a renegade doctor, is John Carroll in his first featured role for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Shepperd Strudwick, as Dr. McQuade, is in charge of the medical center, and with his wife, payed by Rita Johnson, not only fights the maladies of the jungle but the superstition of the natives. Others in the cast include J. M. Kerrigan, Everett Brown, Tom Fadden, Lionel Pape, Nathan Curry, Leonard Mudie, Martin Wilkins and Ernest Whitman.

The story, an original by Mary McCall, Jr., was directed by H. C. Potter with J. Walter Ruben producing.

STELLAR AIR SHOW TO BE PRESENTED IN SACTO. SUNDAY

Bob Wilson, managing director for the Hollywood Air Aces, arrived in Sacramento today to make final plans for the presentation of the stellar aviation show which is scheduled to be held Saturday and Sunday, April 28 and 28, at the Sacramento municipal airport.

Wilson said, after conferring with members of the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee, that the production has been playing to capacity audiences in its swing across the country. The Air Aces have never yet failed to live up to their advance billings and have received testimonials to prove it. They have just concluded a record breaking two day performance at Phoenix, Arizona, where they drew crowds of over 40,000 persons.

Heading the cast of America's No. 1 air show, is Tex Rankin, most famous stunt flyer in the word today. Tex won the international acrobatic championship in 1937 and since that time he has defended it successfully against all comers. He spends the winter months in Hollywood before the cameras, twisting planes through sky maneuvers you see on the screen, supposedly done by the hero. During the summer though, Tex takes to the open road where he believes mightily in spreading the doctrine of aviation, and performing with Wilson's Show is the best way he knows to do it.

ECONOMY BLOC SAVES $1,730,000 MONTHLY COSTS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Savings approximating $1,173,000 a month to taxpayers of California have been effected by the economy bloc coalition of Democrats and Republicans in the state legislature since the special legislative session in February, Speaker Gordon Garland of the assembly said today.

Restrictions placed in the state relief appropriation bill are responsible for the savings according to the speaker, who is here to attend a week-long session of the Joint Legislative Fact Finding Committee investigating the State Relief Administration.

"The courageous stand of certain legislators against Gov. Olson's exhorbitant demands for increased millions of dollars for relief have been justified by the record since February," Garland said.

"Decrease in the relief load from 116,000 case load in February to 85,000 case load at present, is saving $1,173,000 a month in SRA expense, including administrative overhead. This saving is directly due to legislative restrictions which have eliminated chiselers, aliens and others from the relief rolls who are not entitled to relief. At the same time, every person in California entitled to relief is getting it," he stated.

Garland recalled efforts of SRA officials to stampede the legislature by predicting an increase in the case load in March to 122,000. "Present figures show how wrong they were," he said.

Gov. Olson during February told the legislature a minimum of $19,000,000 was necessary to carry relief through March, April and May. The legislature, after careful investigation, appropriated $12,200,000. If the legislature had succumbed to coercion by Gov. Olson a total of $6,800,000 in taxpayers' money would have been wasted, according to Garland, in addition to the present $1,173,000 monthly savings.

"These facts alone fully justify the position taken by the so-called economy bloc in the legislature," Garland declared, "I predict the coalition members will continue to thus serve the people's interests and to oppose wasteful, political spending of the people's money."

"THE POWER TO TAX IS THE POWER TO DESTROY"

FATE OF ENGLAND, FRANCE RESTS ON VICTORY IN NORWAY

England and France must win the battle for the Baltic countries if they are to win this war. A victory for Germany in the Baltic might conceivably lead to an allied catastrophe in the Balkans, the Near East and the Mediterranean.

This was stated by Robert J. Kerner, professor of modern European history in the University of California, at a meeting of the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"The struggle for the control of the Scandinavian countries and the establishment of a second front against Germany may be decisive for this war because the control of the Balkan countries at present is dependent upon its outcome," Dr. Kerner said.

"If England and France emerge with a substantial victory, there will be less likelihood that the Balkan countries will yield to German military control, as already implied in the proposed German military control of the Danube, and Italy will be less likely to intervene and take her share in epoch-making events."

STATE MAY REVISE AUTO DISTRIBUTION

SACRAMENTO, April 22.—(UP)—A survey which may result in a revised system of distributing state owned automobiles is now being conducted by John R. Richards, state finance director, it was announced today.

Under the plan, he said, each department would maintain a number of machines which would be "checked" out by state employes as needed. The plan would not be extended to the cars used by department heads and other high officials, he said.

PROFESSOR SAYS DUTCH INDIES ARE SAFE FROM GRAB

The possibility of either Japan or Germany establishing a protectorate over the rich Dutch East Indies, in the event of an invasion of The Netherlands in the present war, will continue to remain just a possibility, or less. There are too many powerful international interests involved to make this move safe for either nation.

This is the opinion of Dr. Jan O. M. Broek, assistant professor of geography on the Berkeley campus of the University of California and formerly the holder of important position under the Netherlands Indian Civil Service.

Such a move on the part of Japan would threaten an immediate and sharp conflict of interests with both England and the United States, Dr. Broek points out. It would place the Nippon protectorate between the pincers of Singapore, the great British naval base, on the one hand, and Australia and New Zealand on the other, with the British prepared to move swiftly in either direction. It would place the Philippines between the Japanese Empire and the Japanese navy in the Dutch East Indies, and this, he says, would be a matter of concern for the United States.

Naturally, under present war conditions, a German protectorate over the Dutch East Indies would be no more than a hollow boast, Dr. Broek says. Germany could send neither ships nor men to establish a position there.

Economically, Dr. Broek says, any change in the political status of the islands would have serious consequences. Japan already has effected a decided economic penetration which started during the World War, when other nations were blockaded from these rich oceanic outposts, and was given considerable impetus when the deflation of the Japanese yen brought a flood of cheap goods into the Malay archipelago from Nippon. This influx of Japanese goods finally rose to about 35 per cent of the total imports, and it was necessary for The Netherlands government to put all imports on a quota basis and to substitute tariffs on certain commodities in lieu of its ancient free trade policy for its Asian possessions.

MOLDED DELIGHT FROM GELATIN AND POUND CAKE

As EASY and inexpensive to serve as fruit gelatin and pound cake is this regal dessert, named "Molded Delight." It is made as follows:

MOLDED DELIGHT
(Serves 8)

1 package raspberry-flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1½ cups crushed ice
3 cups mixed fruits (fresh or canned)
2 bananas (diced)
8 marshmallows (q[illegible]
½ cup nut meats (broken)
1 lb. pound cake

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add crushed ice and stir until melted. (This is a handy short-cut to speed up the setting process and does not impair the flavor when one uses the pure, taste-free ice delivered by the ice service man.)

Pour a ¼-inch layer of gelatin in the bottom of a loaf pan and chill until almost firm. Combine the drained, cut fruits (any type except fresh pineapple) with the bananas, marshmallows and nuts. Place ⅓ of this mixture over the gelatin and top with a ½-inch layer of pound cake. Add another layer of fruits, another of cake and the remaining third of the fruits. Pour over all the remaining gelatin, which is of the consistency of a thin jelly; insert a spatula around the edges to allow gelatin to reach the bottom layer. Chill until firm in modern air-conditioned ice refrigerator. The cold, moist, clean-washed air will guard the dessert against any possibility of picking up the flavors of other foods. Unmold, garnish with fruits and whipped cream.

HOLLYWOOD FILM SHOP

By ALEXANDER KAHN
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—An attractive young woman who once was a star, made a quarter of a million dollars, lost it—and is glad she did, went before the cameras recently for the first time in years.

She is Mrs. Gordon Ayres, and she's doing a small part in RKO Radio's "Tom Brown's School Days." A few years ago audiences lined up at the box office to pay for the privilege of seeing her in leading roles as "Baby Peggy" Montgomery.

Hollywood scenario writers probably would have turned down her life story on the grounds of "illogical plot construction," but the fact remains that she married the boy and is happy—without the $250,000.

Baby Peggy landed her first screen role at the age of 20 months. Her mother had gone with a neighbor who was trying to get her child in pictures. Peggy's mother had no one to leave the child with, so she took her to the studio.

The casting director took a look at Peggy and gave her the part, instead of the neighbor's daughter. Within six months her weekly salary check boasted four comfortable figures, and wtihin a year there wasn't a moviegoer in the country who did not know of "Baby Peggy."

She played for a while in "Our Gang" comedies, got along very well with all the little roughnecks save one.

"I got even with him, though, only last year," says Peggy, "I married him."

By the time Peggy was 5 she had outgrown that precocious parts that had earned her almost $200,000. But she still was a "name." and with her parents she went on a vaudeville tour which brought another $50,000.

By this time Peggy was growing rapidly and her parents decided that her health was suffering from an overdose of fame and fortune. So they bought a dude ranch in Wyoming. But just then the stock market crashed and the Montgomerys lost their ranch as well as most of their money.

They returned to Hollywood and Peggy's father, Jack Montgomery, went to work in western pictures, while Peggy, no longer in pictures, grew up as a normal child.

INFANT MORTALITY RATE IS LOWEST IN STATE HISTORY

SACRAMENTO, Cal. Apr. 22.—(UP)—California's infant mortality rate in 1939 was the lowest in the history of the state, the department of public health reported today.

The rate last year was 42.1 deaths per 1000 live births, compared with a rate of 43.8 in 1938.

Nearly one fourth of all infant deaths in the state last year were Mexican infants, with the rate for that race 84.3 per 1000 live births, as compared with 35.6 for the white race. Rates were low, comparatively, for Japanese and Filipinos and high for Indians, Chinese and Negroes.

In Nevada county, there were 12 infant deaths reported in 1939, a mortality rate of 33.9 per 1000 live births. The 1938 rate was 45.7.

HUGE NUMBER OF PHEASANTS DROWN IN FLOOD AREAS

SACRAMENTO, April. 22.—(UP) From the sportsman's point of view the most serious damage in the flooded areas of the Sacramento Valley was the heavy loss of pheasants.

Donald D. McLean, economic biologist of the bureau of game conservation, reported a recent survey indicated that approximately 75 per cent of the pheasants in the flooded area were drowned, most of them females.

McLean said, however, that he believed a good breeding stock remained, and cited the 1937 flood and the excellent pheasant season which followed.

FIRES BATTLED IN WYOMING'S RICH COAL BED

GILLETTE, Wyo., April 22.—(UP)—The battle against mysteriously burning coal bed fires, which in a generation's time have consumed millions of tons of valuable fuel, entered its seventh year here as the Department of Interior pushed the fight to halt the destruction.

CCC enrollees, directed by members of the general land office, were marshaled for increased activity against 10 of the coal bed fires which are eating into valuable coal deposits in the Little Thunder Basin region near here. These fire fighters extinguished 12 of the volcanic like blazes last year. Seven other fires were checked.

The fires have been burning in the sub-bituminous coal deposits which lie just below the surface of the ground for more than 20 years. Acres of valuable coal have been destroyed. Cause of the fires have never been determined definitely, although they are credited to lightning, spontaneous combustion or neglected campfires.

It's Hot Job

Fighting these blazes — which sometimes become so hot that the earth surrounding them becomes molten—is not the ordinary water on the flames procedure. CCC youths who worked in the Little Thunder Basin region say its the "hardest and hottest work in earth." Despite the dangers of their jobs, no accidents, have occurred since the CCC entered the fight in 1933.

Hand shovels, wheelbarrows, the power shovels, tractors and other implements have been brought into the battle. The fire fighters must use these tools to dig out masses of the burning coal and smother the flames with closely packed earth. Sometimes the flames have leaped 100 feet out of the ground when the fires are disturbed.

Department of the Interior investigators said the fires were an "irreplacable drain on our natural resources" and pointed to valuable coal consumed in one fire which burned 17 years. Another, which burned seven years, they said, consumed 66,000 tons of coal contained in five and one half acres.

Wool Clip May Be Higher

WORLAND, Wyo. (U.P.)—Washakie county wool growers, with first shearing operations of the 1940 season well under way, predict a 10 per cent increase over the 1,300,000-pound clip of last year. One of the leading wool-producing areas of the sheep-conscious state, Washakie county is expected to receive from 25 to 32 cents per pound or approximately $4,000,000.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tognarelli are planning to go to San Francisco over the 27th and 28 and will be joined there by their daughter, Miss Catherine Tognarelli who is attending Dominican Convent at San Rafael.

MAURICE MOVIE REVEALS IDYLLIC TALE OF HAWAII

Both colored and black and white pictures of the Hawaiian Islands, which were taken by Maurice Kach, well known photographer of Grass Valley and Nevada City, on a recent trip to the insular paradise were presented as the program diversion of the Grass Valley Lions Club dinner meeting at the Bret Harte Inn recently.

The sequences were entertaining and colorful and were enhanced by a running story of island experiences by the program chairman. Particularly eye appealing were the shots of island dances presenting Hilo Hattie.

IS RECOVERING

Mrs. Earnest Young, who was bitten by a fox terrier Friday, is making a good recovery from the injuries at her home on Prospect street. She was taken to the Nevada City Sanitarium as soon as the mishap occurred and received treatment for the bites, and returned to her home. The little dog attempted to bit her pet dog and in order to prevent a fight she picked up her dog and the other one attacked her.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By BARBARA PHARISS

JUNIOR PROM

The Junior Prom, held last Friday night, was pronounced to be a success, in which class of 1941 entertained the student body and others.

The theme "Dutch Garden" was carried out very attractively with a large windmill in the corner, where Dutch girls sold refreshments, windows around the gym with window boxes filled with tulips, a white picket fence across the stage, and a large wooden Dutch boy and girl.

The dance programs were unique with a windmill on the outside, and tied with a pair of wooden shoes. The boys who handed out programs were in Dutch costume.

The main event of the evening was the grand march led by the class president, Mary Innis, and Kirk Martin.

The success was largely due to the hard work of the class advisor, Mr. Hobbie, with the help of his hard-working committees.

ASSEMBLY FRIDAY

An assembly was called on Friday morning at which time a group of Grass Valley students presented a scene from their senior play, and invited the students to come and see it.

The boys then reported to the foot ball field for games and the girls listened to echoes of the Older Girls Conference at Richardson Springs. Margaret Odegaard, Marilyn Chapman, Betty Krough, Mary Libbey and Mary Innis talked on the highlights of the conference.

Moves Home—

The Holmes Ambulance service was used this morning to move Mrs. John Milnarich from the Nevada City Sanitarium to her home on the Tahoe Ukiah highway.

OLSON CONSIDERS MOVING FROM OLD GOVERNOR'S HOUSE

SACRAMENTO, April 22.—(UP) —Gov. Culbert Olson revealed today he is considering moving out of the state's nearly 70 year old governor's mansion in favor of smaller quarters.

The governor said he was studying the costs of operating the mansion, however, and may decide to remain there if it is found to be sufficiently economical.

Apparently the deciding factor in causing Olson to consider moving was the return of his son, Richard Olson to private law practice in Los Angeles. Young Olson has been residing at the mansion with his family while he served as private secretary to his father, but he resigned the state position as of April 1.

The governor's wife died a year ago and with his son's family gone he would be alone in the three story, old fashioned house. Two other sons are attending the University of California at Los Angeles.

You can usually figger that the chip on a guy's shoulder came from his head.

MASTOID OPERATION

Elizabeth Wilson, aged seven years, was operated on at the Miners Hospital in Nevada City yesterday for mastoid infection and seems to be getting along fine. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wilson of Drummond street.
